AIDS TO HAPPINESS.

The Time When Help, Kindness and Sympathy Count Most.

It is during the formative period, the time when a man is seeking to get a foothold, that help counts for most, when even the slightest aid is great. A few books lent to Andrew Carnegie when he was beginning his career were to him an inspiration. He has nobly repaid the loan; made posterity his debtor a millionfold by his beneficence in sprinkling libraries over the whole country. Help the saplings, the young growing trees of vigor; the mighty oaks have no need of your aid.

The heartening words should come when needed, not when they seem only to add to the gloom; and the time for preparations for future favors. Columbus, surrounded by his mutinous crew, threatening to kill him, alone amid the crowd, had no one to stand by him, but he neared land, and riches opened before them. Then they fell at his feet, and implored him to land, and said he truly was inspired from heaven. Success transfigured him; a long line of pebbly beach and a few trees made him divine. A little pausing, and then away, with a clear companionable laugh, a brother's love in his hours of waiting, waiting and hoping, would have been great balm to his soul.

It is in childhood that pleasures count most, when the slightest investment of time or effort is rewarded. Let us give the children sunlight, love, companionship, sympathy with their little troubles and worries that seem to them so great, genuine interest in their growing hopes, their vague, unproportioned dreams and aspirations, and let us, as far as possible, place them in the right places, view the world through their eyes so that we may gently correct the errors of their perspective by our greater wisdom. Such trifles will make a better, more happy, happier for all things a happier, more cheerful creature than come to late. From "The Power of Truth," by William George Jordan, Published by Brentano's.

Feline amenities show themselves most forcibly at committee meetings. There was one of these latter gathered together to discuss a charity bazaar.

The chairman smiled sweetly upon the artist's wife and said:

"You'll give your husband to let us have some little thing of his for the art table, will you not?" "Madame, I will." "I know my husbands are not always easily managed, my dear."

"Ah, but take him after one of your nice dinners and then put in a word for our worthy cause. But remember we are not allowed to have anything which sells for over $25."

"Indeed!" And then Mrs. M.'s eyebrows went up alarmingly. "Then perhaps he'll induce one of his pupils to dash off something for you?"—New York Times.

Painting Animals' Eyes.
One of the most difficult things which the artists and taxidermists of the government studio have to do is the painting and preparation of glass eyes for the mammals, birds and reptiles mounted at that institution for exhibi-

These "eyes" are made of glass, hollow within and from the rear, so that the inner surface may be painted any color desired. As no two animals' eyes are alike and as the colors are often complicated and unusual, it requires a great deal of skill, study and practice before one is competent to undertake the work.

Life Saving Superstition.
The superstitious collier is often laughed to scorn, but a miner in north Wales is just now thanking his lucky stars that he believes in omens. He was boring under some coal and was startled by seeing a rat scuttling away. He walked away from the spot, and directly afterward a large fall of coal occurred just over the place where the man had been working.—London Standard.

IDEOGRAPHIC FIGURES.

A lesson in English that was taught by a Chinaman. That we have partially adopted the Chinese method in our written language was a new thought to me and one that I got from the proprietor of a Five Avenue laundry when in the natural Caucasian flesh. I referred to his written language as being very inferior.

"John," I said, "why do your people use those chicken tracks instead of handwriting, which we have?"

"A 'C' too much trouble to be answered quickly. 'Why, you use chicken tracks, too, sometimes."

"We don't use them," I replied.

"We? you? Very good. I say 'you'."

Then he dipped his convenient brush in the ink and made the number "80" on a sheet of brown paper. "That name of street over there," he said, pointing to a place. "You say 'eighty-nine'; you don't write it in 'A B C'." That Chinaman. One mark is one thing—say you 'idea'; yes, idea. You don't put down 'm-n-e'—and here his brush came into use again—"you put out 'm-n-e'." That very good Chinaman. We So that at the time

"That is ideographic," I suggested.

"Yes, English have much ideographic.

All figures ideographic. See!" And again he wrote his name. "You make 'M' and you say 'M'—yes, you! You don't spell with 'A B C'." That is a mark for mark—ideographic. You make 'M' and say "thousand." That Chinese way. Very good. I say, "How hot?" and you write "+ST." All Chinese. We So that at the time "Fine way. English know some fine Chinese ways. See? 'S'." You know them. Ideas. You say ideographic, making many Chinese marks for stars, for plants, for measures, for weights and signs for hundred and hundred many things; same as Chinaman. Good!"

I actually left that laundry wiser than I entered it.—New York Herald.

A DRAMATIC LAWYER.

At one time, for instance, he was defending a man accused of killing his wife.

"You hear?" he said solemnly after a moment's silence, and his man-pitiable endeavors. Which of us would dare now, on this great day of mercy

The prisoner was acquitted without the least difficulty, though his death sentence ten minutes before had been Simple Headache Cure.

Here is a simple cure that is said to be a most effective remedy to relieve the sufferer when all else fails.

It is easy to make and easy to apply, and it consists simply of black pepper and camphor. Take a quantity of black pepper and mix it in a handkerchief and told the person to hold over so that the grains cannot fall out and satrate the whole thing with camphor. Bind this "plaster" on the head and lie down. In a very few moments the headache will be relieved and the camphor becomes dry saturate again with the camphor; that's all. People who have tried everything else say that this home remedy relieves them quickest. At any rate, it is worth trying.

Jules Ferry's Escape From the Mob.

Jules Ferry had a narrow escape from the mob. He was a fugitive, a criminal, to whom he was especially odious. He eluded their pursuit through a church, letting himself down in a basket out of a rear window while the mob was forcing the outer door. The basket fell the ground with a thud and gave its occupant a severe shaking up.

Announcement.

It is with great pleasure that the management announce that they have secured at great expense the celebrated Kennedy Bros' Wild West Show, Congress of Indians and Rough Riders from the far West, and Roman Hippodrome, combining a Great Number of Daring, Novel and Interesting Features, to be given during each day of the Two Great Fairs at Guthrie and Madisonville this year. All their performances are given in the track in full view of the amphitheatre and taken altogether, it is equal and in many respects better than can be seen at the best circuses the road, for the reason that the performers are not cramped by the limits of a small ring in the execution of their wonderful feats of horsemanship.

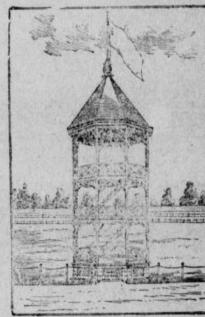

These performances are given between heats of races and ring shows, thereby relieving the monotonous and tiresome waits so often the case at Fair and race meetings.

The programme of races and ring shows and other regular fair features is much more varied and liberal than ever; the work of preparing for the exhibitions was begun much earlier than ever, and the management gives positive assurance that the exhibitions at either place will be far superior to anything ever attempted in the past. In addition to a splendid programme of running races, liberal purses have been offered for trotting and pacing races at both fairs, and the public can confidently rely upon seeing some of the best racing in all three classes ever seen in this section of the state.

A nice circuit has been arranged so that the fairs of this section follow one another to the best advantage. The following are the fairs embraced: Guthrie, July 29 to August 1; Madisonville, August 4 to 8; Uniontown, August 11 to 15; Mt. Vernon, Ind., August 17 to 21; New Harmony, Ind., August 24 to 28; Shawneetown, Ill., August 25 to 29; Carmi, Ill., September 1 to 5; Princeton, September 7 to 12. Beginning at Guthrie the distance from one fair to the other is short and expense of shipping small, consequently full fields may be assured. The first fairs have the advantage in securing the best racing for the reason there are not so many fairs running in different parts of the country and horsemen naturally want to take the first opportunity of seeing what their horses can do; the horses are at their best and race for all there is in sight. Guthrie and Madisonville are the only fairs in the state on their dates that have racing, consequently the horsemen will flock to them. Last year at Madisonville there were from ten to sixteen horses in every race, while the purses were smaller than were offered at Guthrie in October, when there were only three and four horses in a race. The reason is that Madisonville came early and had no conflicting fair dates, while Guthrie Fair was held at a time when three other fairs were going on in this territory, with no dates close the following week. Shipping expense was therefore high and the other fairs naturally divided the horses with Guthrie, making the Guthrie races a partial failure. This year this will be reversed and Guthrie and Madisonville both will have as many horses in all the classes as can well get lined up in the track.

Half farers on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, to both places during week of Fair within a radius of 75 miles. For time card of special trains see small hand bills.

Positively no gambling or drunkenness will be tolerated at either Fair. Everything connected with the exhibition will be clean and unobjectionable. The management desire to afford innocent amusement to the people who attend, not to demoralize, and nothing will be seen or done that will offend the most fastidious taste. This policy has been followed for years successfully at Madisonville, where the crowds grow larger and more enthusiastic year by year, and those who desire to attend the Guthrie Fair may rest assured that the same policy will prevail there.

People who attend the Guthrie Fair may rest assured that this Fair will be equal in all essential points with the Great Hopkins County Fair at Madisonville, the same special attractions being secured for both fairs, the same horses will make the races, the same band will make the music, and if the people will take as much interest there is no reason why the Guthrie Fair should not be as successful as the Hopkins County Fair.

Col. Jack Chin, the famous starter, has promised to start the races at each place.

BUOYANT MIDDLE AGE.

It Dances Jauntily With Youth In These Progressive Days.

Half a century ago a man of forty-five was regarded as old, and a woman of the same age was esteemed to have long since cut herself adrift from all the binding her to youth and to assume the appearance and deportment of a mild, exemplary matron. All this has changed, and particularly interesting way, of which the prominent feature is a seeming contradiction. If the three-year-old child of today is as knowing as was the six-year-old of half a century ago and the ten-year-old boy of today is in many respects as ignorant as was his grandfather at eighteen, one might naturally expect that in due gradation the modern middle aged man should be old beyond his years. But such is not the case.

A middle age so far from burying on into senility, so far even from standing still, would seem actually to have stepped backward and marched alongside of youth. There is a jauntiness, a buoyancy, an elasticity about the middle aged man which our fathers would have shunned their bones were it necessary. The spirit which once separated the middle aged parent from his children has been filled up. The curtain which shrouded the middle aged man generally from the eyes of youth and which he could not lift without respect if not with awe has been lifted, and in obedience to the same influences which have made the schoolmaster the friend of the schoolboy and the regimental officer almost the comrade of his men, the middle aged man of today is never so happy as when working or playing upon an equality, and actually in connection with youth.

As with men, so it is with women. Some statisticians tell us that the age at which women become most eligible for marriage has been very notably advanced of late years, and we know that the lament of many a matchmaking mamma is that the most dreaded rivals of her darling are not to be found so much among the girls of her own age as among those which not many years ago would have been relegated to the ranks of hopeless old maidhood. The fact is that the middle aged lady of today is much younger in manner and tastes is of course not the only reason for this, but it is among the most potent.—London Spectator.

A VERY STRANGE INTERCESSION.

In a church where the prayers are said at the direction of the sexton, very strange intercessions are sometimes presented. I remember well ages since hearing old Dr. Muir of Glasgow, who was a real though eccentric genius in his day and of whom no record remains, relate to me an incident which had been in his own knowledge. "Mr. Smith was preaching at Drumskeele, and he had come to the concluding prayer, where we pray for all the enemies (sin) when he suddenly remembered that he had forgotten to pray for the magistrates. So he put in the prayer just where he was. 'Have mercy upon all fools and idiots and specially upon the magistrates of Drumskeele.' He meant no evil, but the magistrates were not pleased."—London Tatler.

Playthings In Court.

Some very curious models have from time to time been produced in court in various lawsuits. There was a model of a mill produced lately in a patent case where the patentee claimed his patent to have been infringed. The patent was in connection with some parts of the machinery of the mill. The model mill was set up in court while judge and counsel watched its movements with much interest. A model steam engine was once produced in an action against a railway company. The judge insisted on having a whale which the engine had caused to jump into the water, whenever the counsel who was speaking asked for an adjournment of the trial for twelve months, when he would be able to give the required explanation.—London Tatler.

How to Remove Stones From Land.
Large rocks should be heated by burning a quantity of brush on each one, and then with a good heavy sledge hammer, break them into small pieces and split into fragments which can be handled off upon the drag. Medium sized rocks may be drawn out by digging round them, fastening a log chain upon the lower side and attaching the team. Let the horses stand slow, and with a little force the stones may be dislodged at the second or third pull. A good way to get rid of stones is to bury them, but bury them deep—not less than three feet from the surface—as they will be certain to work up to the top in a few years, when the work has to be done over again at considerable cost.

Nothing to Show For It.
"Say, doctor, what's that last $3 item in my bill for?"
"Let me see. Oh, yes; I gave you a thorough examination on that day. Don't you remember?"
"Sure I remember. But do you suppose I am going to pay you for that when you took up an hour of my time and when you couldn't find anything the matter with me after all?"—Buffalo Express.

WATCHING KENNEDY BROS' WILD WEST SHOW.

List of Features of Kennedy's Wild West Show, Indian Congress and Roman Hippodrome!

NO. 1.

A GRAND INDIAN POW-WOW

Composed of three tribes of full-blooded western Indians—the Sioux, Cheyenne and Pawnees—introducing to the people a Grand Indian Pow-wow, the same as they do when preparing for war. In this pow-wow they give the real War Dance or the realistic production of the White Dog Feast or Snake Dance. They are all attired in War Paint and real western dress. They can also be seen at the Indian Village of Cowboy Camp at any time.

NO. 2.

Burning of the Lone Settler's Cabin.

Trapper Tom, who had settled on his claim alone and made his living by hunting, trapping and trading with the Indians. A cabin is erected and not far from that is an Indian trading post, where the Indians trade their furs, hides, etc., for other articles. The Indians arrive on the scene, trade some furs for whisky or fire water, after which Tom and his partner, with their furs retire to the cabin. The Indians after drinking all the whisky, become angry and track them to their cabin and attempt to steal their furs, and are shot by Tom. Afterwards they shoot a flaming arrow to the cabin, set it on fire, and capture Tom. They then prepare to burn him at the stake but he is rescued by cowboys just in time to save him.

NO. 3.

Indians Attack Emigrant Wagons.

A Historical Event of the Mountain Meadow Massacre.

An emigrant wagon and outfit headed for the gold fields of California is attacked by Indians, and a battle takes place, in which the cowboys' horses are trained to lie down. After the Indians are driven back, two of the Indians return to scalp the supposed dead, when the cowboys fire upon them from behind their horses which the Indians suppose to be dead. This act is very amusing as well as exciting.

NO. 4.

Wild Bill's Cowboys and Rough Riders.

Saddling and riding wild bucking bronchos. The riders are genuine cowboys and will ride any wild horse, mules or steers that are brought to them free of charge, on the track before the public.

NO. 5.

Fancy and Trick Riding.

Mounting and dismounting, jumping completely over the horse and back in the saddle, hanging by the feet on the saddle horn, and all in the most reckless and daring manner. Vaulting off both sides, picking up objects, also doing backward pickup, introducing Rough Riders Monkey Drill and finishing by standing on the head and shoulders on the horse's neck, all while the horse is at full speed. This is ridden by W. H. and J. V. Kennedy, the champion fancy riders of the world.

NO. 6.

Cowboy's Fun.

Picking up small objects from the back of a running horse.

NO. 7.

Lassoing and Roping.

Cowboys lassoing each other's horses, catching by the feet, head, etc. Throwing half pitches, spinning the rope in a circle, etc.

NO. 8.

Funny Clown Act,

By one of the Greatest Clowns, with his ever laughable and funny performances. A GREAT ACT FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

NO. 9.

Indian Race.

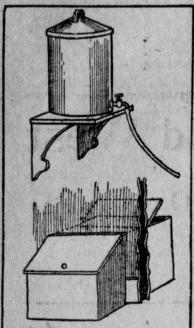

Indian race on horseback between three Indians. One half-mile dash.

FOR THE KITCHEN.

Two Useful Contrivances That Save Time and Labor.
An Illinois lady suggests the following contrivance and fuel box are the two principal articles in the kitchen. To have them handy and convenient saves nearly one-half the labor. The accompanying illustration nearly explains itself. The water tank is made of galvanized iron to hold fifteen or twenty gallons and has a spigot at the bottom on which is fitted a short piece of rubber hose. The teakettle or anything else on the stove can be quickly and easily filled without spilling any on the stove or floor. The shelf on which the tank sits should be a little higher than the stove and must be secured to the wall. It can be filled with a force pump or carried in piles.

The fuel box is made in the wall near the stove and extends out in the same way as the shelf in the kitchen, as shown by the dotted line. It is filled right from the outside, so there is no carrying of wood or coal through the kitchen. It has a cover with hinges and always looks neat. It is the handsomest fuel box I know of.—St. Louis Journal.

Cleaning Pictures.

In cleaning house, one of the principal places to be overlooked is it is often overlooked or left to the care of servants, when the mistress should give it her personal attention. Each picture as it is taken down should be carefully dusted and the cord or wire from which it hangs should be wiped the glass made polish it until it is perfectly clear. Wipe the frame with a soft cloth wet in warm water and rub off all my specks and other dirt. If the picture is framed with a glass paste paper, simply all the paste paper and rub off the glass with a little heating. Then cover with the cloth, turning and whipping it over and under the edges. Cut a strip of cloth fifteen inches long, hem it at the ends, leaving the hem wide enough to make a tail, turn it through. Gather the sides and sew to the covered cardboard, the straight edges to be used for the top.

Stocking Bags.

One of the most convenient articles imaginable is a stocking bag. To make take a piece of large flavored calico or other goods and a piece of cardboard. Cut the piece of cardboard seven inches square, round off the two corners, lay the top square side down and roll on the edges with a little heating. Then cover with the cloth, turning and whipping it over and under the edges. Cut a strip of cloth fifteen inches long, hem it at the ends, leaving the hem wide enough to make a tail, turn it through. Gather the sides and sew to the covered cardboard, the straight edges to be used for the top.

Virtues of Hot Water.

Hot water is a medicine within the reach of every woman. Half a teacupful as hot as can be drunk comfortably half an hour before meals is a great aid to the system. A few drops of the tea needles for a disordered stomach if a little salt be added, and the same is the best gargle for a sore throat. Hot water is good for constipation if taken at bedtime. If followed up for a few months it will work wonders on the most delicate constitution.

Parsley For the Kitchen.

Every kitchen ought to have its pot of growing parsley. The price of a small bunch of fresh green, and the advantage of having fresh leaves on hand whenever they are wanted is plain. Buy a five cent package of seed and sow on top of the soil in a five inch pot. Water well and set the pot in a light place. In a short time the plant will be a mass of green. Weed out the weak plants.

To Clean Brass Pictures.

Brass pictures should never be cleaned with the ordinary brass polishers, as they destroy the coat of lacquer that is put on to prevent the brass from tarnishing. The bright parts should be rubbed every day with a soft cloth, and then again with a soft cloth, rub with a cloth slightly moistened with sweet oil and afterward polish with a soft cloth and chamois leather.

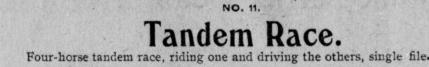

A Pipe to Last for Years.
If you want a pipe to last for hours try this plan: First let it burn until quite clear and rather low. Then put on some big lumps of coal. Flatten down and on top heap a good thick layer of charcoal, which press down with a shovel as hard as you can. A fire made up like this will last, without any more attention, through the greater part of the night.

See The Great Trick House Pantomime each Day. You won't quit laughing for six months.

NO. 10.
Lady Jockey Race.

One half mile dash between Miss Cook and Miss Kennedy. Both of these ladies have laurels for their fast and reckless riding and the contest is the best that can be produced.

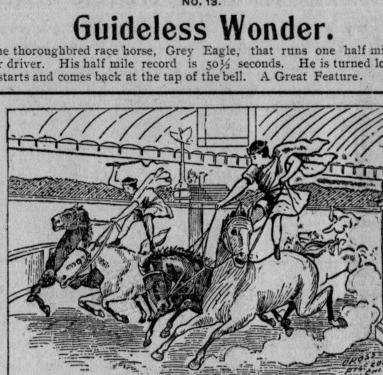

NO. 11.
Tandem Race.

Four-horse tandem race, riding one and driving the others, single file.

NO. 12.
Racing Greyhounds.

A pair of imported English Greyhounds, well broken to harness, are driven by a lady to a small rubber tired sulky, and race against a pony. The only pair in America today. This act alone is a good feature for any public exhibition.

NO. 13.

Guideless Wonder.

The thoroughbred race horse, Grey Eagle, that runs one half mile without rider or driver. His half mile record is 50 $\frac{1}{2}$ seconds. He is turned loose on the track, starts and comes back at the tap of the bell. A Great Feature.

NO. 14.

Roman Chariot Race.

One half mile dash between two four horse teams of Kentucky thoroughbreds, driven by lady and gentleman.

In addition to the features of the Wild West Show outlined above, the Marvelous Redmonds will give thrilling exhibitions on the slack wire.

Palermo Bros. will present their wonderful Trick House Pantomime Act, doing marvelous acrobatic turns which delight and thrill the audience at the same time. This act alone is worth the entire price of admission and it will be six months before you quit laughing.

Remember all these acts are given in the track, in front of the grand stand, free to all, daily, between the heats of races and show rings.

Performances commence promptly at nine a. m., and continue uninterrupted until over in the afternoon, except the noon intermission.

NO. 15.
6-Horse Standing Race.

Between two speedy three horse teams each team being ridden by an athlete who stands with one foot on each of the outside horses and astride the middle horse.

NO. 16.
4-Horse Standing Race,

Same as above, only using two horses each.

NO. 17.
Hurdle Race,

Between two jockeys on thoroughbreds, racing one half mile and jumping three hurdles from 3 to 5 feet high.

NO. 18.
Comic Cowboy Race.

Two cowboys riding sitting down astride of two horses each. One fourth mile.

NO. 19.
Capturing and Hanging a Horse Thief.

The supposed thief steals a horse, is pursued by whoys, lassoed, pulled off his horse, dragged on the ground, and hanged to a tree or pole.

NO. 20.
Riding a Wild Texas Steer.

Kennedy Bros Rough Riders will ride a wild Texas steer. This is one of the most exciting and amusing features of the program, as the steer bucks like a broncho.

Plenty of Ice Water free to all. Everything just as advertised. No disappointment. No fakes.

Other special attractions will be added from time to time, making in all the greatest combined program ever seen upon any Fair ground in the state.

Everything clean and unobjectionable. No drunkenness or disorder of any kind tolerated. Absolutely no gambling devices of any description will be permitted to run.

Take your family and enjoy one or more days of recreation, and meet and mingle with old friends, see the races, show rings, and Wild West Show performances, all for one price of admission.

KILLING OF JESSE BURTON

At the A. O. U. W. Picnic By

Marshal Lindle While Trying to Escape From the Officers.

SAD AFFAIR DEEPLY REGRETTED

BY THE CITIZENS OF EARLINGTON.

For a number of years it has been the custom for some of the various secret orders to have an annual picnic at Lakeside park, near this place, on July 4th. This year the Ancient Order of United Workmen gave a picnic and barbecue which was attended by hundreds of people from town and country. The dancing hall was thronged with people, bands were playing, old friends were exchanging greetings and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion until about one o'clock, when an attempt was made to arrest Jesse Burton, of the Sulphur Springs neighborhood. It seems young Burton was placed under arrest by Constable Sisk, who started with him to the steps, where a surrey awaited to convey him to town. On the way to the surrey Burton attempted to pull loose from Sisk when E. E. Witherspoon, another officer, came to Sisk's assistance and both officers then took Burton to the surrey and placed him in it, after a struggle. Burton had scarcely been seated in the surrey before he jumped out from the opposite side and ran down the road in his shirt sleeves, having thrown his coat containing a pistol to some one in the crowd before entering the surrey. As he ran down the road some one said "Shoot him," and Officer E. E. Witherspoon fired in the ground about six feet to the right of the fleeing man in order to stop him. The evidence before the coroner's jury was to the effect that Marshal Lindle then placed himself between Witherspoon and Burton and fired two shots, one of which unfortunately took effect in his back, near the center. When the last shot was fired Burton was seen to flinch and began walking. Marshal Lindle and a Special Deputy quickly reached his side and took him back to the surrey and placed him in it. It was then discovered the man was seriously wounded and he was conveyed to the hospital and a physician summoned. Mr. Burton died soon after reaching Earlinton. The coroner was then summoned and held an inquest of which the following is the verdict:

We the jury, summanded by the coroner, having been duly sworn to hold an inquest over the body in the city of Earlinton, find that the body is that of Jesse Burton and that he came to his death at a park near Earlinton, in Hopkins county Kentucky, about one o'clock p.m. on July 4, 1903, by a pistol shot fired by E. Lindle, being fired upon by E. Lindle and E. E. Witherspoon, officers of the law, he having been arrested and attempting to escape by him. —American.

timony at the coroner's inquest all went to prove that Witherspoon shot to stop the man and had no desire to injure him, as he shot in the ground and the dirt was seen to fly from where the bullet struck.

A Kentucky Judge.

Citizens of Breathitt county, Kentucky, who incur the ill-will of the Hargis family are apt to find life uncertain and unprofitable. Judge James F. Hargis is county judge and chief advisor and director of the Hargis clan of murderers, assassins, perjurers and house-burners. He is also a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, and some of the Kentucky papers have been bold enough to suggest that he resign. The Lexington Herald says: "If he does not resign the identity of Judge Hargis with the Democratic party and its State organization may prove disastrous." Another paper says he should either resign or be forced off the committee. Judge Hargis himself calmly remarks: "I will do as I damn please." Doubtless he will. The editor of the Winchester Sun relates this experience of the editors of the two papers published in Jackson, the home of Judge Hargis, and the scene of numerous assassinations and farcical trials:

There are two papers published in Jackson, Breathitt county, the Hustler and the News. The editors, T. M. Morrow and J. Wise Hargis, are nice specimens of men, but their circumstances would give the news. But they both know that if they were to publish the facts about the conditions in Breathitt county they would be killed. If the Hargises do not own the Hustler they control it absolutely.

News some time since published some facts in which the name of one of the Hargis brothers was mentioned. This so enraged Mr. Hargis that he went to the News office and kicked the editor and ordered him to publish nothing more to mention his name again. He then went to the typesetter and told him that he must expect the same fate. To save Messrs. Morrow and Hargis from any suspicion on which they might be assassinated, I will state that the printer, who left Jackson by the next train, gave me this information.

Perhaps Judge Hargis is a paying subscriber to his home papers. If so, he naturally feels that he should have a voice in directing their policies. He is also a merchant, and it may be that he advertises in the News and Hustler. In that case he, of course, has the right to kick the editor. Judge Hargis is a strenuous man. He leads an active life and keeps his neighbors guessing which one will be next to fall to the merry music of the assassin's rifle. His associates on the Democratic State Committee are doubtless proud of him. —American.

BIG SHOT.

Earlington Gun Club Leads in the Great Contest Saturday.

The Earlington Gun Club celebrated the Fourth of July with a shoot at their grounds. There were several local clubs here to shoot with the boys, and among them some good shots. W. G. Barter, of the Earlington club, captured the greatest number of prizes, and carried off the honors of the day's shooting by breaking 130 targets out of 145. Sullivan, of Elton, next with 128. The leading score of the Hopkinstown was made by Wood, scoring 128.

The prizes were divided among Earlington, Elton and Hopkinsville, all of whom did some good shooting.

Perhaps Russia is simply moving her troops in and out of New Chwang to give them exercise.

RACE RIOTS IN EVANSVILLE

Six Killed and Twenty-five Injured—Streets of Evansville a Slaughter Pen

SHOTS FIRED BY MILITIAMEN.

Evansville, Ind., July 7, 12:30 a.m.—The first fatalities attending the riotous scenes of the past three days resulted tonight, when six persons were killed and probably twenty-five wounded, as the result of the militia firing upon a mob of people in front of the jail at 11 p. m. tonight.

The crowds gradually grew in size and the people bolder. After numerous incendiary speeches had been made, in which the militia was referred to as duds soldiers with blank cartridges, the crowd became bold and began to take liberties.

Finally an old bicycle was secured, and it was used as a sort of battering ram to dislodge the line of soldiers. As the crowd pressed near the militiamen the excitement grew intense.

Finally some one threw a rock and struck a soldier in the neck and he fell. A pistol shot was then heard, and then the firing became general. There was a mad dash for safety, and it has been proved since that most of the injured were wounded while the crowd was actually retreating.

As the crowd fled some of the mob turned and opened fire on the soldiers and five wounded militiamen are now in hospitals, as are many of the other wounded, although numbers of the latter were taken to their homes by friends.

When the street was cleared of the fleeing crowd it resembled a slaughter pen, the dead and wounded being strewn all over the street.

The sight was a shocking one. A riot call was sent in from the jail and a patrol wagon of policemen and deputies went hastening to the scene.

The excited militiamen thought themselves about to be attacked by another mob, and they rallied into line and prepared to defend themselves. Guns were trained for the defense, and for a moment it looked as though there would be more bloodshed. Some cool-headed persons were equal to the occasion. Ambulances and cabs were called and the work of removing the dead and wounded began.

The Dead.

Hazel Allmen, sixteen years old, shot in heart.

Ed Ruhl, twenty-two years old, shot in the back.

Ed Schiffman, twenty-five years old, shot in head and back.

August Jourkan, twenty-five years old, shot in head and back.

Fred Kappler, fifteen years old, shot in side.

Unnamed man, middle aged, shot in back.

Merlyn Jaquess, private, in arm.

Richard Knoll, private, hit on arm with stone.

One other private slightly wounded.

Chas. Taylor, twenty years, shot in back; will die.

Henry Smith, middle aged, slightly wounded.

Riley Mayes, middle aged, seriously wounded.

William Kellar, twenty-one years, slightly wounded.

"NEW KENTUCKY HOME."

Contract For State Building at the World's Fair Will Be Awarded This Week.

From present indication actual work on the construction of the Kentucky State Building at the St. Louis World's Fair grounds will begin within a fortnight. The Building Committee of the Kentucky Exhibit Association met last week and received proposals from thirteen of the country's big contractors to erect the building. Twelve of this number have contracts with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition for putting different buildings on the grounds. The Exhibit Association had determined many months ago to hold the cost of the building, it being temporary, down to $90,000. Three of the bids received were under $90,000 and one that figure exactly. The committee passed a resolution, recommending to the Board of Directors of the Association that the lowest bid be accepted and contract at once entered into. The directors held a meeting two days later—eight of the fifteen members of the board being absent—and approved the recommendations of the Building Committee. Resolutions to this effect were adopted, each member present signing and the Secretary being directed to forward the paper to the absent members. The name of the contractor will be withheld until this formality is carried out.

"They Say."

Two simple words which we hear almost every hour in the day. Rich and poor, high and low continuously use them.

Have you ever stopped to think how many times tears have flown;

how many hours, days, aye, months and years have been lived through in bitter anguish;

how many hearts have been broken—all because of the simple phrase, "They say!"

How friendly it often sounds!

And yet, how much venom is not frequently hidden in it.

The most preposterous statements are sometimes introduced with "They say." And there are always people ready to believe the almost unbelievable, and who iterate and reiterate it, until it becomes an accepted fact.

"They say" is like the mirage that appears to the thirsty traveler in the desert; the more he strains to reach it the more rapidly it fades away into mere nothingness.

When the victim of slander tries to trace it to its source, nobody knows anything about it except—"They say."

It was repeated merely as a stray bit of news; no evil was intended; it was only a joke; nothing had been made up, and it was simply a repetition of what others had stated before.

But it grew like the rings from a stone cast into the water; like an avalanche hurling down the mountain side it gained in speed and in force, it struck home.

And another reputation was blasted, another heart was broken—Ex.

The newspapers of Philadelphia are having a fine game of ping-pong with that new libel law.

PULASKI LEEDS,

Superintendent of Machinery of

L. & N. Shot Down in Office at Louisville by George B. Warner.

REFUSED TO GIVE WARNER A LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION.

DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED.

Party Of Earlingtonians Play, Finch at Hopkinsville.

A jolly party of finch players, numbering 15, went to Hopkinsville on 51 Monday afternoon, where they were met by another equally jolly party of finches with carriages. After being driven over the city for some time an elegant dinner was served at Hotel Latham, which, it is needless to add was very much enjoyed. After dinner the party adjourned to the spacious parlors, where tables were arranged for playing.

Eight games were played as hurriedly as possibly by Earlington rules and never was any contest more enjoyed by all present than this one.

At the close of the eighth game it was found that five of the Earlington people had won seven games and these five cut for the prize, which was a very handsome medallion. Frank Rash's usual good luck did not desert him and he won the prize.

Mr. Leeds is a man of striking presence, being over six feet tall and built in proportion. He was exceedingly popular with his subordinates and his associates. He was nice to approach, and the humblest employee of the L. & N. shop could at any time secure an audience with him. He was affable in manner and good natured at all times.

Mr. Leeds has a high reputation among the master mechanics throughout the United States and Canada, being a member and officer in the National Association of Master Mechanics. He has made a fine record while serving in his present capacity and has brought the mechanical department of the L. & N. up to the very highest standard.

Mr. Leeds had charge of the work of building the large car and locomotive shops which the L. & N. are now building in South Louisville and which are to be the greatest railroad shops in the South.

Mr. Leeds took great pride in this work. It was his intention to have the shops provided with the finest machinery of any railroad road shop in the United States.

Mr. Leeds began his railroad career with the New York, New Haven and Hartford. Twenty-five years ago he came West to accept a position with the Indiana, Decatur and Western, now the C. H. and D., at Indianapolis. He came to Louisville in 1882 as master mechanic of the shops. He succeeded Harvey Middleton, who had been appointed superintendent of machinery in place of Reuben Wells. When Mr. Middleton left the L. & N. to go with the B. and O. as master mechanic Mr. Leeds succeeded to the position of superintendent of machinery. He has filled the position held by these two distinguished mechanics with eminent ability and satisfaction.

HONORS FOR PAUL M. MOORE.

Will Be Next President of Kentucky Press Association.

It seems a certainty that Mr. Paul M. Moore, of the Earlington Bee, will be elected president of the Kentucky Press Association at its annual meeting at Lexington this month, says the Louisville Times.

He is eminently qualified for the place, and so far as is known, will have no opposition. The next man in line for the honor is Mr. Louis Landram, of the Lancaster Record, who has given much of his time to promoting the interests of the organization. He is bright, capable and deserving.

A place for everything, and everything in it, is a good description of some closets.

What Love Is.

Some people have a very vague indistinct idea of what love really is. Below will be found a definition of love and what it means in the highest sense of the term.

Love is the brightest star in the Christian firmament, the fairest flower in the garden of God. It comprehends all virtue, honor, goodness, purity, sincerity, magnanimity and whatever else can adorn the human character. For what is holiness but love pure and supreme? and what is heaven, but love perfected, unalloyed and everlasting? and what are all the Christian virtues and graces but so many modifications and variations of the same divine principle? Mercy, what is it but love sparing the guilty? and kindness, but love bestowing its blessing? and pity, but love sympathizing with the sufferer? And what is beneficence, but love distributing its bounty? and gratitude, but love reciprocating its favors? and fortitude, and fidelity, but love sustaining its burden? and fidelity, but love performing its promise and vows? And what is zeal but love contending? and peace, but love reposing? and joy, but love exulting? and patience, but love enduring? and meekness, but love forbearing with its foes.

A GREAT OFFER.

Louisville Times and Weekly Courier-Journal Six Months, and the Bee One Year For Only $2.00.

The Louisville Times and Weekly Courier-Journal are making an unprecedented campaign subscription offer—both papers six months for $1; to separate addresses if desired. As the regular price of The Times for six months is $2 and that of the Courier-Journal $1.50, this offer gives $3.50 worth of newspapers for a dollar bill; which ought to put the two papers in every home in Kentucky.

As far as to show that The Bee can be just as enterprising and enterprising, we have joined in the combination and will send The Bee for a year, along with the other two, for $2.00, instead of the regular giving $4.50 for $2.00. All three to a different address, as desired. "Now is the time to subscribe." All subscriptions must be sent to this office.

Night Was Her Terror

"I would cough all night long, write Mrs. Chas. Applequist, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would faint. Finally I tried another medicine but, when other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me. I am now well again. It is absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, LaGripe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Send $1.00 and I'll send you bottles free at St. Bernard Drug Store.

A Noble Work.

We congratulate the people of Earlington for the great interest they have taken of late in their cemeteries. We should give due praise and thanks especially to those self-sacrificing ladies who have taken such an active part in this great work. They have given up their time and labor in order to find a fitting place for their beloved ones and especially for those who have no one to care for their grave.

To much cannot be said in their praise; for if they had not banded together thus showing that mutual Christian spirit, and worked so zealously for this cause the cemeteries would not be in such a sorry state as they are today.

If this good work is continued, our cemeteries will in the course of a year or so, be a credit to our town and a pleasure to visit. Then we can in truth say: "Gone but not forgotten."

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Cal., writes:

"For 15 years I endured inhuman torture at the hands of a man named Relphord who I thought nothing less than God. I tried everything known. I came across Electro-therapeutics and took that medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me."

Just as I was getting well and general debility. Only 50¢. Satisfaction guaranteed by St. Bernard Drug Store.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

J. W. Maxwell, of Dallas, Tex., general superintendent of the Missouri, Kan., and Texas railway has been promoted to assistant general manager of the road.

William B. Wood, son of Vice President Wood, of the Pennsylvania lines, has been appointed superintendent of the Richmond division of the company.

The Daily Railway Age of June 26 contained an article in its editorials calling attention to the fact that there were three Walshes at the Master Mechanics' Convention at Saratoga, N. Y., then in session. Thomas Walsh, with a record of forty years as master mechanic for the Louisville & Nashville, his son F. O., Superintendent power and machinery for the Atlanta & West Point Railways at Montgomery, Ala., and another son, W. C., master mechanic for the Southern Indiana at Bedford.

As usual the Howell shops closed for the Fourth, giving all employees a chance to show their patriotism. Several spent the day at St. Louis with friends or relatives, others at Mt. Vernon, Ill., and other towns along the line of road, while most of the men were content to remain at home with their families. Of course sufficient number of men were retained at the shops to keep up necessary running repairs.

Fireman John Donovan, who sprained his back the latter part of June while throwing a shovel of coal in an engine on what is known as Four Mile Hill, has fully recovered from the injury and is again at his post of duty.

Mr. J. N. Ragsdale, the stationary engineer in the Howell round house, is off on a leave of absence, visiting friends at St. Louis with his family.

Fireman W. L. Pittman is off a few days visiting friends at McLeansboro, Ill.

John Peters has resigned his position as car repairer at Howell to accept a position offered him in St. Louis.

A. E. Mann has been appointed as traveling freight agent, vice C. A. Swope, promoted to Eastern freight agent at New York. Mr. A. E. Mann is a son of Ex-Conductor E. H. Mann, who is now station master at the new depot at Evansville.

Low Stinton, a conductor on the E. & T. H., recently had the pleasure of handing to a farmer a purse containing $5,400.00, which the farmer had lost while riding on Mr. Stinton's train. The farmer was profuse in his thanks, but seemed to think that the conductor was only performing his duty and that the railroad company was paying him for performing his duty, and therefore only gave the conductor a cigar for his trouble. The poet of the Evansville Courier, W. J. B., suggests that,

"The reward might have been more than just a joke, Could he have said, 'No, thank you sir, I never smoke.'"

"All you've got to do, gentlemen," said an engineer the other day to a crowd of bystanders, "is to give some men a chance for advancement, and they will take—"

"Ten chances to miss it," suggested one of the listeners.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas of Earlington is visiting her sister in Evansville this month.

Fireman P. J. Herb is of the opinion that Earlington is a pretty healthy place, and accordingly Mrs. Herb, who has not been enjoying good health since moving to Hopkinsville, will spend the summer in Earlington.

Bert Barton, for several years painter's helper at Howell, has resigned to accept a position with the Globe Furniture Company of Evansville.

The Vanderburg County Reviewing Board took a trip through the Howell shops last Thursday.

A company with capital of one million dollars has been organized to exploit the idea of sleeping cars for trolley lines.

Orders for two cars have been placed, the cars to run between Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio.

The new trolley car sleeper is 56 feet over all. During the day time the car presents the appearance of an open parlor car with 20 revolving seats. At night it is converted into 10 compartments, each 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 6 feet 10 inches long. Upper and lower berths are provided of the regulation steamer size, with a 15 inch space between the berth and aisle for dressing. The partitions will be formed on the same principle as a roll-top desk and are entirely out of sight during the day. There will be the usual toilet rooms at each end of the car. Among the novel minor equipments will be electric cigar lighters for the men. Electric fans at each end of the car will serve to make life bearable during spells of torrid weather. Electric heaters for each compartment, which can be regulated by the occupants, will be a feature of winter comfort. The cars will be equipped with motors that can propel them at a speed of 60 miles an hour if desired.

Mrs. Kohlman Dead.

After a long illness and weary months of pain and suffering, Mrs. Emma Kohlman died at the family residence on Broadway last Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. She had been ill for fourteen months with a disease that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of the country.

Under the escort of her two sons here, Mrs. E. L. Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. F. Heymen of Bardstown, the remains left Madisonville Sunday evening at 4:30 for Louisville, where the funeral took place that afternoon at 1:30.

The devoted and dutiful sons have the sympathy of all in the great loss they have sustained.

Ladies, Keep Cool.

The Woman's Medical club of Chicago has issued the mandate: "If you want to be cool and comfortable, ladies, wear socks." Hm! That depends on the weather. If it is 98 or 100 in the shade, and you want to be cool and comfortable, ladies, do not wear socks. Socks keep nobody cool. — Milwaukee Free Press.

Died Tuesday.

William Walton an aged citizen of this place of a complication of diseases. Mr. Walton was a very unique character and had traveled considerably both in this country, Europe, and the Holy Land. He died possessed of considerable property. A wife and two children survive him. THE BEE extends sympathy.

MORTONS GAP NEWS

Our Sunday School is progressing rapidly.

The people of this town were highly entertained Saturday night July 4th by the Sunday School group and their leader, Rev. J. T. Martin.

Mrs. Sallie Hardin of Hopkinsville Ky. is the pleasant guest of Mrs. L. Clemmon.

Mrs. Wm. Robertson is visiting in Madisonville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Drake of Sebree, Ky., visited their sister, Mrs. Mary Patterson.

Mrs. Ada L. Sharber is visiting in Crofton this week.

Little Miss Lula Mitchell has been very sick but is much better at this writing.

Miss Minnie E. Littlepage is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Ella Murphy at this place.

Will Build a Model City

Asheville, N. C., July 4.—The Citizen says:

"It is reported that George W. Vanderbilt has acquired a large tract of land between Hendersonville and Brevard, N. C., about thirty miles from Asheville, and will shortly commence construction of a model manufacturing city, all of which will be complete and ready for occupancy before any one will be permitted to settle in the city."

Our Country Grand.
O country grand and free,
Our prayers ascend for thee
To God above,The curse of drink, we pray,
Be put from the Tee away.
And come that blessed day
Of joy and love.God of the nations great,
While here Thy people wait.
Thy ways unfold;O may we see the light,
O, may we do the right,
And in Thy conquering might
Thy cause uphold.O righteous God on high,
Heal Thou Thy people's ery,
Help them to rise!
O may Thy children stand
A firm, united band,
And from ruin save the land
For evermore.God of the nations, spare
The people of Thy care,
Deliverance send;
Free Thou the fettered soul,
And from the drunkard's bowl
As joyous years shall roll.

cigarettes and yet say it's wrong?
You're like our counsellors who say saloons are wrong but always vote for them.Jimmie (aged 8)—Well, you see we politicians have to do these things.Secretary Root has cabled Governor Taft that the opium license proposition of the government must be abandoned for the present. But why for the present? Ah! Root is a sly old dog, but he will find that not only "Crafts and Stunts," but a host of other people are taking note of his little game.Trath, a liquor organ published at Detroit, Mich., says and it knows,
"The trend of public sentiment in this decade against the liquor traffic, and when the trade realises this fact and confines its efforts entirely to protecting what they now have and banishing thoughts of what they would like, the better it will be for all."The June number of Current Literature says the drink habit is so bad in England as to be really alarming. The public houses or saloons are always on the side of the Conservative party. These lately have come under the control generally of rich brewers and distillers.There are in the United Kingdom over one hundred and fifty thousand and licensed for the sale of alcoholic drinks, and there is no approach to the number of licensed houses exceeds fourteen thousand or one to every 440 inhabitants.The annual drink bill of the United Kingdom reaches the enormous sum of nearly nine hundred millions of dollars, far exceeding the entire amount expended for all religious, educational and charitable objects.
This is an average of over $100 a year for every family of five persons. This a fine example of the beauty of "regulating" the evil.If the business houses and shops and factories that are of benefit to be closed, we say, why should not the saloons that are a curse, be closed also? Why should this favoritism be shown? Is love for one's

There are movements on foot, however, for the reduction of this alarming evil. A law, in force for the first time this year, makes the treating of men under the influence of liquor a punishable offense. Also, an habitual drunkard, when once declared by a magistrate, is guilty of crime if he asks for liquor on licensed premises within three years after the date of such declaration, and any persons who furnish liquor to such declared drunkards are liable to be severely punished.

The gambling habit, one of the associated evils of drinking, has also alarmingly developed in England, and measures against betting, based upon investigations by a House of Commons committee, are now before Parliament.

A Remarkable Occurrence in the Depths of a Fissure Vein.

A remarkable and, so far as I know, unprecedented occurrence was found lately in the deep workings of the Fisk Mine at Central Colorado, by Mr. M. P. Dalton, manager, and by him brought to the notice of Mine and Minerals.

It consists of a carbonized fragment of a tree changed into fairly hard lignite coal, found imbedded in the fissure vein, 1,000 feet below the surface. Although the fragment is thoroughly changed into coal, it shows still the structure of the wood. The piece is about 2 feet long by 4 inches thick, and 4 or 5 inches wide. It was found at a slight enlargement of the vein of quartz and sulphides, and was entirely surrounded by and imbedded in an unusually large and rich body of iron sulphides from which several carloads were taken running 14 ounces to the ton.

The Fisk vein is an ordinary, typical, fine fissure vein with quartz filling between granitic walls carrying gold bearing iron pyrites. The vein from wall to wall is from 4 to 6 feet wide and is nearly vertical. The mine is developed to a depth of 1,100 feet.

We can only account for this remarkable occurrence of so large a piece of organic matter at that depth, on the hypothesis of the fissure having for a long period laid open to a considerable width sufficient to allow a fragment of a tree from the surroundings to fall or be washed in, and after being covered up by vein stuff, silica, and ore, gradually changed to coal.

That there should be a large precipitation of ore around this organic substance is only what we might have expected, and that it should be rich is equally reasonable.

There is no possible question as to it being real coal and a real fragment of a carbonized tree. Fearing to trust my own eyes, I sent the fragment to a noted coal expert and geologist, who likewise agreed it was genuine coal.

The way in which it was found imbedded in ore and vein stuff in an entirely new working, precludes all possibility of its having been dropped in by some one from above, or of being the carbonized relic of some old mine timber.

We have a few examples of charcoal and carbonized wood having been found in some of the deep workings of some mines in Colorado, such as in the Basick Mine at Rosita, but as these mines occupy the throat of an ancient volcanic crater, or fumeroles, the presence of charcoal is easily accounted for by trees growing along the edge of the orifice, having fallen in during the process of eruption.

GREAT FRUIT DISPLAY.

Plans For Kentucky's Exhibit
Are Well Under Way.

SHIPMENTS WILL BE MADE DAILY.

Kinds of Fruits in Glass and From Cold Storage—Every County
Asked to Send at Least One
Barrel of its Best Apples.

Kentucky's fruit display at the World's Fair will equal that made by any other State in the Union, if the fruit growers of Kentucky follow the directions of Mr. M. F. Johnson, Chairman of the Horticulture Committee of the Kentucky Exhibit Association. Mr. Johnson, as President of the Kentucky Horticultural Society, is one of the best-known men connected with the fruit growing industry in the State. His ability along this line is recognized by all and his energy is the wonder of many.

Mr. Johnson is not allowing any time to go by without his feet in pushing the work of his department. Early in the year he appointed a special committee covering the fruit growing section of the State, and to the members thereof gave specific instructions as to the collection of specimens for the Horticultural Exhibit from Kentucky. Johnson's purpose to be ready at the opening of the Fair with fruits in glass and from cold storage, and to supplement this daily with fresh fruit shipped from different parts of Kentucky to him in the Horticultural Building.

Mr. Johnson was able to secure the hearty co-operation of a number of well-known fruit growers in preserving in glass the different berries. He is now calling on men identified with the Exhibit to send specimens from every county in the State for exhibition, especially, to be placed in cold storage until the first of next May. In his circular letter on this subject, Mr. Johnson says:

"We want fruit from every county in the State. Many counties have no fruit, yet they have great possibilities in that line. Show samples of your best, induce fruit growers to come to counties and locate. Fruit growers are of necessity permanent citizens and taxpayers for they must own their homes. When they transplant their orchards and gardens into orchards the value of the real estate is enhanced immeasurably. All that is needed is two or three willing workers in every county and every county will be represented. The work will be done for the knowledge that your county is represented in the greatest show the world has ever known will repay you for all your trouble. Any county can send in at least one barrel, and others should contribute several barrels. The show sections for six months can be used for cold storage purpose, so as to have a continuous display throughout the entire time. We must have these from the crop of this year, as next year's crop will not mature in time. Put off no time, get at the same time in the same page."

"We cannot keep successfully fruit that ripens earlier than the Maiden Blush apple. Peaches won't keep. Select, only perfect specimens, as to size, shape, color and condition. Wrap specimens in paper separately—avoid bruising—pack them carefully, mark thereon the name of variety, the name of the grower and address. If more than one variety is packed in the same barrel, please place paper between the varieties and mark each above. A label of each will be published at the end of the show giving the name and address of all who contribute fruit and also the names of those who gather up these displays. When the great wall of Jerusalem was being perfectly so short a time the reason was that the people had a mind to work. So now if the people have a mind to work we will astonish the world at St. Louis with our fruit display."

Mr. Johnson has asked all to whom he sent circulars to notify him at once that they will enter the fruit for their County. Upon receipt of such notification he will issue full instructions. He thinks it will be absolutely necessary for the fruit to be sent direct to St. Louis this Fall for cold storage, from which plant it may be withdrawn in suitable quantities and at such times as required.

Mr. Johnson has in mind numerous attractive designs for best displaying Kentucky fruit and all citizens of the State who visit the Fair will come away with a pleasant recollection of Kentucky's Horticultural Exhibit.

Kentucky Conspicuous.
Kentucky is to be everywhere at the World's Fair, in all parts of the ground. The Kentucky Exhibit Association has been active in the building and displays are to be made in all the exhibit palaces, while the exposition authorities themselves are turning to the State for their decoration. The Landscape Department has laid 10,000 square yards of blue grass, and the grounds are in full exposition, so the millions of visitors will see Kentucky even before they enter the grounds. The slopes and terraces close to the lagoons are removing the sod. The upper surface is needed.

A New York striker who assaulted a non-union workman gets six months in the penitentiary and the judge says: "The right to labor must be secured as guaranteed by law." That's what the Federal court injunction says to all who would interfere with the free miners of Hopkins county, too, but the man has not come yet who dared to flagrantly violate this mandate.

The Louisville Times hits the elongated piece of iron on the cranium when it says:

While the Kentucky Bar Association is adopting resolutions calling for a higher standard of attainment on the part of lawyers, consideration of means for the better enforcement of the law itself would not be far amiss. Fewer lawyers and more law, and Kentucky would be the better for it.

The Bee stands for law and order, and believes in standing by the officers of the law in the performance of their duties when they are in the right, but from the evidence before the coroner's jury in the unfortunate affair of Saturday, it would seem that the action of the officers was wholly indefensible. Men who accept positions as peace officers must understand that the authority conferred on them does not justify them in taking life unless their own lives are placed in jeopardy. The law must take its course.

THE man whose home is the best in the land, whose town is the best in the country, whose state is the best in the Union, whose nation is the best and strongest in the world—that man is a good citizen, whether he is a bank president, a mechanic, a school teacher or a day laborer. Such a man will take his home paper, even if it is a size or two smaller than the dailies and does not contain so much foreign news. He will also do his trading at home whenever it is possible, if he does have to pay a few cents more for the goods or produce, as the case may be. He will always speak a good word for his town and champion her cause, whatever it may be. He will be loyal to every educational cause adopted by his town and work for the success of the same in preference to anything outside. Then, as a reward for his fidelity to his town and her people he will have prosperity and success and the highest regard of his neighbors.

HIGH CLASS FEATURES

FOR THE STATE FAIR AT OWENSBORO
Executive Committee Makes More Contract for This Big Public Enterprise.

The Executive Committee of the Kentucky State Fair Association which will hold its big Fair at Owensboro, beginning September 21st, has added some highly interesting free amusement features to its programme, among them being Dr. Carter, the eight wonderful horses which can run at speed without drivers; a race between a team driven by a man; four automobile races, one of which will be for amateur enthusiasts of Owensboro only; a fine foot ball game and mule and hurdle races.

In addition to the $20,000 cash prizes for exhibits, there will be many prize silver cups offered by various associations and individuals.

The contracts for the big building have been let.

What Should Be Told of a Man's Life?

The aim of all portraiture ought to be the emphasizing of what makes the man different from, not like, other men. It is the specific, the individual, view that we want to catch. Some people have an inborn objection to the particular. Their one desire is to be, and to appear to be, exactly like everybody else. The widow almost always desires that her deceased hero should be represented exactly like all other respectable men, only a little grander, a little more glorified. She hates, as only a bad biographer can hate, the telling of the truth with respect to those faults and foibles which made the light and shade of his character.

When I was a young man, and frequented the Prepharactes, I used to notice that Rosetti had a very curious way of tilting a glass or cup out of which he was drinking, and gulping down the last drops in a great hurry. I have never heard or seen this trick noticed by anyone else, and it is so trivial that I have never thought of recording it myself. But there it is in my memory; the feverish, swarthy face turned upward in profile, and the large lips eagerly supping down the stream of liquid. I don't know why, but in that trifle I see Rosetti again after all these years; there is something to me, characteristic, personal, unique, in the habitual gesture. Are we not glad to know, on the authority of those who have seen him, that Bacon had a nut-colored eye, like the eye of a snake, and that he would not allow any of his servants to wear boots of Spanish calf because he hated the smell of it? Is it not satisfactory to be told that the celebrated Dr. Isaac Barrow was so dreamy that he would mount the stairs of the pulpit, and address a fashionable audience, with his collar unbuttoned and his hair uncombed? I cannot tell why it is that the modern biographer is so afraid of letting us into these little picturesue secrets.—Edmund Gosse on "The Ethics of Biography," in the July Cosmopolitan.

To a Self-Conscious Maiden.

Put self wholly out of your mind, and study the interests of those around you.

You can acquire it by making of your mind a storehouse for all that is good and beautiful in literature, music, art, etc.

Your efforts to amuse others will cause you to forget all about yourself, while others will be only glad to remember.

This is the true secret of popularity and success.

Follow it closely and you will soon have cause to wonder at your former diffidence and "self-consciousness" that had caused you so many unhappy moments.

Thomas J. Lipton.

Seventeen years ago Thomas J. Lipton, the "Provision King" of Great Britain was selling goods over a counter. Today he is worth upwards of $35,000,000. He made it by keeping good goods and advertising them through the newspapers.

His first store was started in a small way. He advertised and won.

He now has 60 stores and is still advertising and growing. If you are in business and not advertising, you're wasting time. You might just as well have this force selling goods for you and increasing your business as Lipton.

The promoters of Edge's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a "sure cure for consumption." They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do positively assert that it will cure the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases.

Edge's Honey and Tar is without doubt a safe and effective lung remedy. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Jno. X. Taylor.

The trials of the Shamrocks are at an end." Now their troubles will begin.

An Up-to-Date Girl.

"Yes," says the proud mother, "if I do say it myself, there isn't another girl in society who has been so thoroughly schooled and who has enjoyed so many of the preliminary advantages. She has had the appendicitis, has had two years in a rest-cure, has gone on six sea trips for exhaustion, has had seven attacks of prostration, has been written up in the papers as about to elope with a rich man, has been promised to ten foreign millionaires and eight noblemen have looked her in the financial agencies."

Now that she is about to make her debut

I see no reason why she should not become a great favorite, if complete preparation has anything to do with it."
